Fax-Enable your Application Today

Fax is still relevant today in many business applications because of its intrinsic built-in security, delivery confirmation and compliance with government, financial and healthcare regulations.

Medical labs use it to report test results, banks use it to confirm cash transfers, consumer credit companies use it to report the results of credit checks, and hotels use it to confirm reservations made by travel agents. TeleFax enables you to send faxes automatically or on demand from any NonStop applications to any fax machines or fax services anywhere in the world.
